Camp Hill School Board Candidate

Amyra Weiss is a communications professional with diverse experience spanning legal assistance, court systems, legislative reporting, and sales. Inspired by her father's 41-year legacy as a prosecutor, she is running for Camp Hill School Board to serve the community's students and improve educational outcomes.

A Camp Hill resident since 2011, Amyra brings a multicultural perspective as the daughter of an Egyptian mother. She speaks Arabic and French conversationally and understands the importance of diverse educational viewpoints.

Amyra earned her Political Science degree from the University of Connecticut, where she competed as a Division 1 rower. Her own educational background includes participation in orchestra, chorus, STEM competitions, AP science classes, and award-winning creative writing.

As a mother of two daughters—Scarlett (15) in 9th grade and Leia (6) entering the district next year—Amyra has both personal and professional investment in Camp Hill's educational future. Now that her career allows civic participation, she is eager to support Camp Hill students through dedicated school board service.
